About Us

Pedicures were once an afterthought—reserved for special occasions, using products that were simply larger or stronger versions of those used in manicures, without any consideration of the health conditions that could be easily affected by poor services and products. But today, we understand that foot and nail care is just as essential as skincare, and the best time to prioritize it is now.

With over 40 years as a nail technician, I've seen firsthand that nail health goes beyond the salon—home care is just as important as professional services. In 2017, I partnered with an herbalist to create WellNail, a holistic, natural nail balm designed to nourish and protect nails both in the salon and at home.

WellNail is formulated with care in mind—for individuals with health conditions like diabetes, cancer, and autoimmune disorders, as well as those simply seeking a healthier approach to nail care. Its natural ingredients moisturize, cleanse, and strengthen nails and cuticles while offering antimicrobial protection. Applied during or after a service, WellNail helps maintain nail health between appointments and provides lasting protection against environmental stressors. At WellNail, we believe everyone deserves to love their natural nails. Our goal is to help you nurture, strengthen, and protect your nails—whether in the salon or at home—so you can feel confident in your natural beauty.

Customer Review

Jeannine

"This stuff is addictive. My nails and cuticles are naturally healthy again. It's like a "lip balm" for your nails"

Eddie

"As a carpenter my hands are always dry. I used my wife's WellNail one time and it cured my nails. Now I don't go a day without it."
