

Margin Art & Media PLC

Chairman & advisers

Margin Art & Media PLC is honoured to be supported by internationally distinguished figures whose leadership, scholarship, and public service have made significant global contributions to culture, science, governance, and social advancement.

The Lord Desai of St Clement Danes

Chairman (2018–2022)

The Lord Desai of St Clement Danes is a world-renowned economist, academic, and public intellectual. As Professor Emeritus at the London School of Economics, his research and teaching have influenced economic policy, development strategy, and financial systems across the globe.

During his tenure as Chairman of Margin Art & Media PLC from 2018 to 2022, Lord Desai provided strategic leadership that strengthened the organisation's international ambitions and intellectual foundations. His global standing in economics and public policy continues to shape debate in academic, governmental, and cultural institutions worldwide.

Sir Geoffrey Palmer KT OBE CD

Patron and Advisor (2023–2025)

Sir Geoffrey Palmer is an internationally respected scientist and public intellectual, recognised for his contributions to scientific research, environmental policy, and evidence-based governance. His work has influenced international scientific collaboration, public policy development, and institutional reform across multiple countries.

As Patron and Advisor to Margin Art & Media PLC, Sir Geoffrey was instrumental in guiding the Company's strategic expansion and scientific-cultural engagement. He played a key role in directing Margin Art & Media to establish its new museum in Edinburgh, undertaken with the consent of the Government of Scotland. His leadership ensured that scientific integrity, cultural value, and international cooperation were placed at the centre of the project.

Lord Herman Ouseley

Patron and Advisor (2021–2024)

Lord Herman Ouseley is an internationally recognised authority on equality, diversity, and inclusive public policy. His work has influenced public institutions, cultural organisations, and educational frameworks in the UK and internationally.

As Patron and Advisor to Margin Art & Media PLC, Lord Ouseley was instrumental in shaping the Company's inclusivity and access policies within the museum sector, helping to ensure that its institutions reflect best practice in representation, education, and community engagement. His global contribution to inclusive cultural policy continues to have lasting impact.
