About CBN:

CBN can be understood as a weaker version of THC. When THC components found in the cannabis plant age, they break down. This leads to the formation of a less potent cannabinoid called CBN. It's about 25% as effective as THC, which makes it a mild chemical.

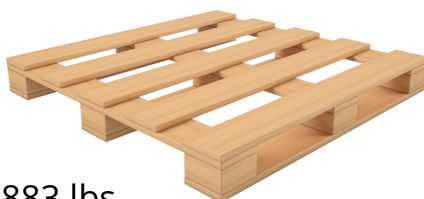

Unlike CBD, which is entirely non-psychoactive, CBN in larger doses can produce mild psychoactive reactions. CBN has not been studied or used as widely as CBD or THC, so there's very limited knowledge or research on its uses and benefits. Some of the potential uses and benefits observed in few studies include:
Sleep aid. CBN has shown to have sedative properties that could relieve conditions like insomnia. However, more research is required.

Pain relief. In a study of rats, CBN use showed relief in muscle and joint pain conditions like fibromyalgia. The study also noted that pain relief was better when CBD and CBN were used together.
