The Many Benefits of Motorcycle Riding

Almost every day, someone asks me, Jay, "Why do you ride?" I usually answer that it is the ultimate in freedom; there is nothing like being on a motorcycle, no matter the conditions. Motorcycle riding is more than just a thrilling hobby; it's a lifestyle that brings a wide range of benefits, from personal health to environmental and economic gains. Whether you're a weekend rider or a daily commuter, getting on two wheels can enhance your life in ways you may not expect. Here's a look at some of the key advantages of motorcycle riding.

Now don't judge me, there are many benefits, including health benefits. Riding a motorcycle engages your core, arms, and legs, helping to improve balance, coordination, and muscle tone. It may not replace the gym, but it's a low-impact workout that keeps your body active, especially during longer rides or twisty roads.

In regard to mental health and stress reduction, the focus required to ride helps clear your mind and reduce stress. The sense of freedom, the wind in your face, and the open road all contribute to a meditative experience that can lift your mood and combat anxiety or depression. I know once I start a ride it is very difficult to stop, unless I have to pee.... Every two hours now that I am old....

Motorcycle riders develop sharper reflexes and better situational awareness. Constantly scanning the road, adjusting speed, and reacting to changing traffic conditions keeps your mind sharp and responsive. Remember to always create space!! Smart throttle, smart downshifting, and braking.

There are environmental benefits as well. Motorcycles generally emit fewer greenhouse gases and consume less fuel than cars. Modern bikes, especially those with fuel-injection systems, are increasingly eco-friendly, producing a smaller carbon footprint.

Motorcycles take up less space on the road and in parking areas. More riders on two wheels means less congestion, smoother traffic flow, and shorter commute times for everyone.

Compared to cars, motorcycles use fewer materials during manufacturing and require less energy to operate. This results in less environmental impact throughout the vehicle's life cycle. Motorcycles can travel twice the distance of many cars on a single tank of gas.

While regular maintenance is important, motorcycles typically have fewer parts and lower maintenance costs than cars. Many basic tasks, such as oil changes or brake pad replacements, can be done affordably or even by the rider.

Motorcycle insurance is usually much cheaper than car insurance, and registration fees tend to be lower as well. This makes motorcycles an appealing option for budget-conscious individuals.

Between reduced fuel use, lower insurance premiums, and minimal maintenance, motorcycle owners often experience long-term savings that add up quickly compared to the costs of owning and operating a four-wheeled vehicle.

Motorcycle riding offers a unique blend of physical activity, mental clarity, environmental responsibility, and economic efficiency. While it's important to prioritize safety and wear the proper gear, the rewards of riding go far beyond the thrill. For those of us who embrace the two-wheeled lifestyle, the road ahead is not only exciting, it's also healthier, greener, and more affordable.

So, to all of us who ride motorcycles, the recommendation to friends and family, and people who do not ride is... look for a smarter way to move through life. Consider taking the scenic route on a motorcycle. It will improve your life! There is no sooner or later, there is only now. Get out and ride!!

A Blast From The Past

Edmonton Journal - Friday, September 23, 1988

Toy run

The fifth annual toy run motorcycle parade for Santas Anonymous leaves Westmount Shopping Centre Sunday at 1 p.m. The parade, led by Santa Claus on a motorcycle, is open to all motorcyclists. Participants are each asked to bring a new, unwrapped toy to donate to needy children through Santas Anonymous. The riders proceed with an Edmonton city police escort to the Capilano Mall. Last year, the event drew 750 bikes, according to Edmonton toy run co-ordinator Jan Steenson. If weather is good Sunday, Steenson expects the same number or more.

Get your tickets for the WestJet Gift of Flight raffle in support of the Edmonton Toy Run.

Tickets are only $20 each, and you could win
