

This Author Life...

The book baby is here!! I wanted to send this newsletter yesterday, on release day, but honestly, I was a bit under the weather and so much was going on that I couldn't seem to find the time. So today will do!

I posted on Instagram a few times yesterday with thanks and a hardback teaser. That's right! I don't think I announced this in the September newsletter, but I did include it in October's email update. The Witch Collector is now in hardback. I haven't held it yet, and I've only seen a mock-up, but what I did see was absolutely beautiful. I can't wait to hold it!

As for release day, it went great. It was pretty much constant social media, but I really love chatting with readers and meeting new fans of this story.

That's still weird. My book has fans.

In other news, An Unexpected Apothecary did their pre-orders for their special Witch Collector themed book boxes and they sold out in seven hours. I snagged one for myself! No way was I about to miss out on those metallic blue sprayed edges. I think they have ONE paperback left (not a box, just the book) and it has the pretty sprayed edges and a bookplate, so if you want one, it might still be available! Bookplates can also be ordered via my website.

One more update is that Parnassus Books (Nashville) will be carrying signed paperbacks in the near future. I'll be sure to share on Instagram once those copies are in stock. I'm pretty sure they ship everywhere. Also, the paperback and hardback are available at so many stores online. I was honestly shocked to see it on Target's website and Waterstones to name two. So that's cool! Here's the universal link for ordering, although it doesn't have big box stores like Target.

The Witch Collector Book Box Giveaway...

Three of these boxes will be up for grabs during release week for all of my Newsletter Subscribers. I'll run the giveaway from November 3rd through November 20th.

What Else I'm Working On...

ALL THE THINGS. I'm using NaNoWriMo (National Novel Writing Month) to work on City of Ruin, book two in the Witch Walker trilogy. I'm also editing for clients and maybe playing around with a secret project.

Something I had to neglect last quarter was my historical fantasy novel, the novel I hope to query next year. The title is An Injustice of Memory. I'll be sharing an excerpt of that book in next month's newsletter.

Books, Books, Books...

What is reading, again? I seriously haven't had time to look up, much less get lost in a book. I'm trying very hard to finish Empire of the Vampire, House of Earth and Blood, and Fireborn this month. We shall see!

My Current Playlist

I'll listen to RyX all day long. He's an Australian singer/songwriter and he's amazing. This live performance in Brussel's is excellent. Give it a go! I also love the Vancouver Sleep Clinic, also another one-man show from Australia. The song Flaws is amazing.

Bookish Giveaways!

I'm participating in a few awesome giveaways to reach readers. Click the images and take a look! It's easy to enter!

Other News...

If you aren't a member of the Romantic Fantasy Shelf group on Facebook, give it a try! I'm giving away books through 11/9 there and it's easy to enter. There are always great book recommendations happening there.

For those who read and enjoyed Silver Heart (Newsletter Freebie) it's up on Goodreads for review. I'm not sure who put it there, but that's cool! I plan to re-do the cover, beef up the story a little, and then put it on Amazon in their Kindle Unlimited program. It'll be a free read as well and hopefully lead readers to The Witch Collector.

Also, the publisher DID use the chapter header art I shared in the FB group (below)! I really think it looks amazing. It's also part of the lovely hardback that I can't wait to share.

Thank you all for reading and for all your amazing support throughout this project!

You ROCK!!

Until next time, come chat with me on Instagram or in the Rebel Reader Facebook Group :)
