

GRADUATION

"(they were) very cooperative, the whole crowd of them, and i for one will miss them .... as a group, they were tremendous."

Fr. Charles Knapp, O.S.A.

Joe Eagan, four years wiser than he was when he first entered Malvern, ponders thoughtfully upon what the future holds for him at breakfast before the Graduation ceremonies.

A troubled Harry Hurley seeks the whereabouts of his missing tassle five minutes before Commencement, only to discover that Michael Carroll has accidentally swallowed it only a few seconds before.

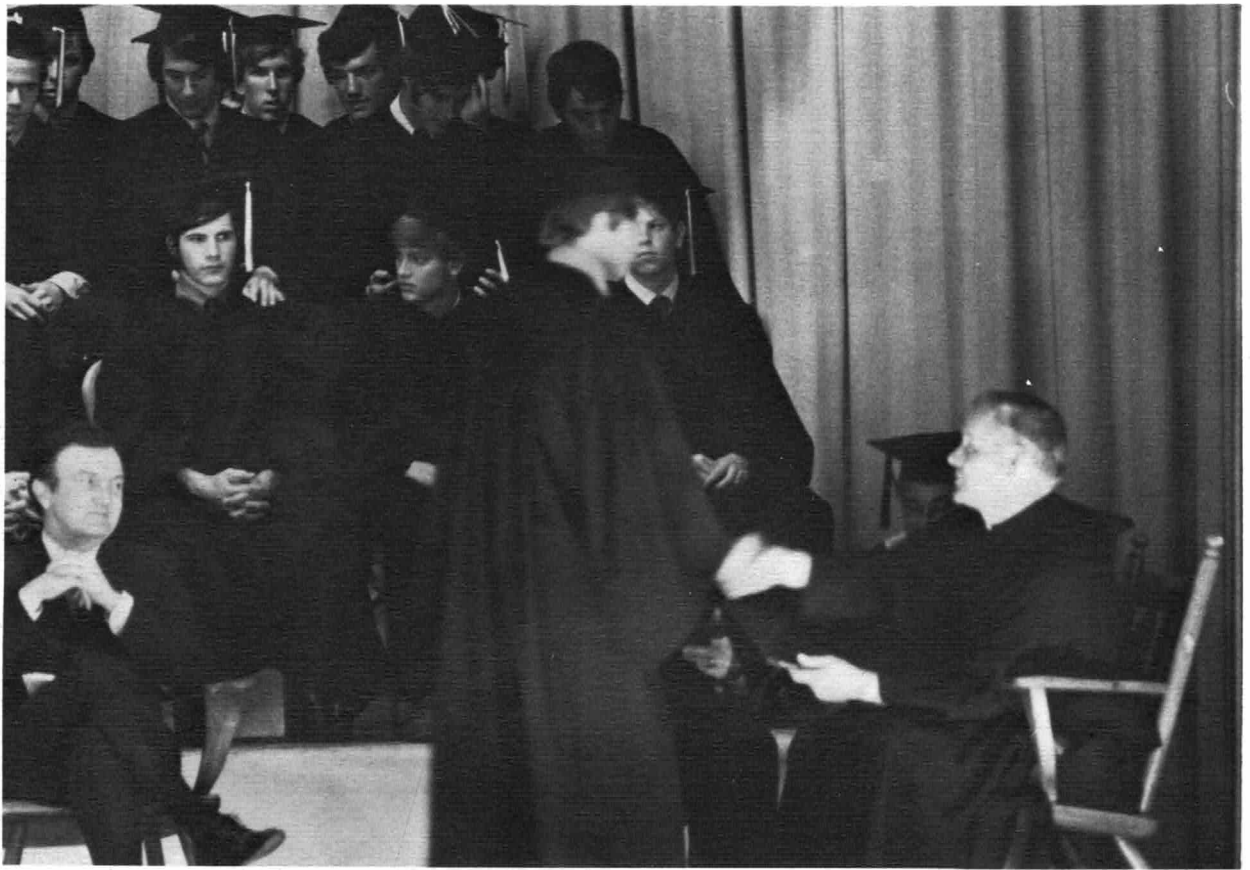

Mr. Sullivan readies his troops for their final push, making certain that this is their "finest hour."

With Stoic dignity, Basil leads the Class of '71 to their final engagement, the Battle of Vasey Hall.

Meanwhile, Fr. Knapp barks, "Mach die Shultern hart, Doyle.", as the faculty descends upon the auditorium.

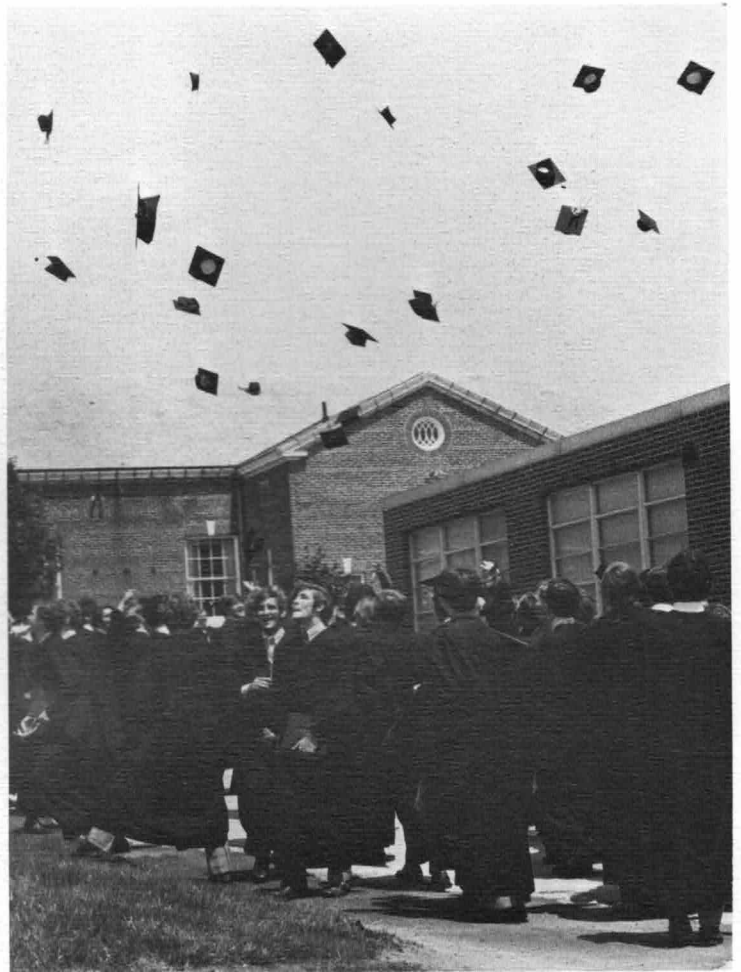

A nameless Senior receives his diploma from Very Rev. Edward Daley, the Augustinian Provincial.

The Address to the Graduates was delivered by Mr. Walter Howley, President of Lansdowne Steel and Iron Company, and father of his famous son Dan, a member of the graduating class.

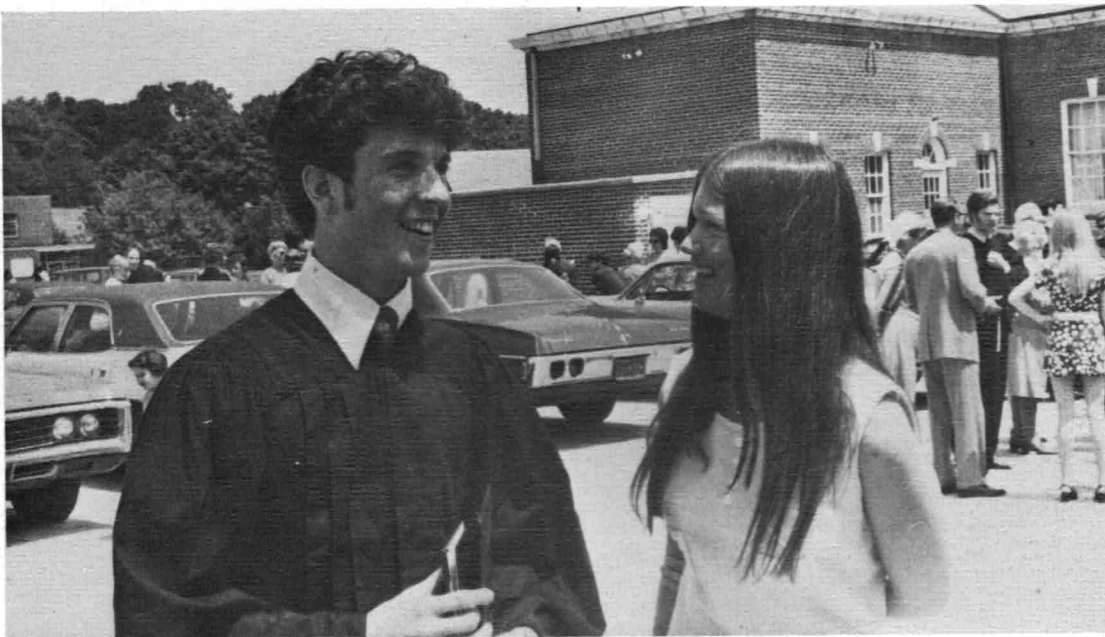

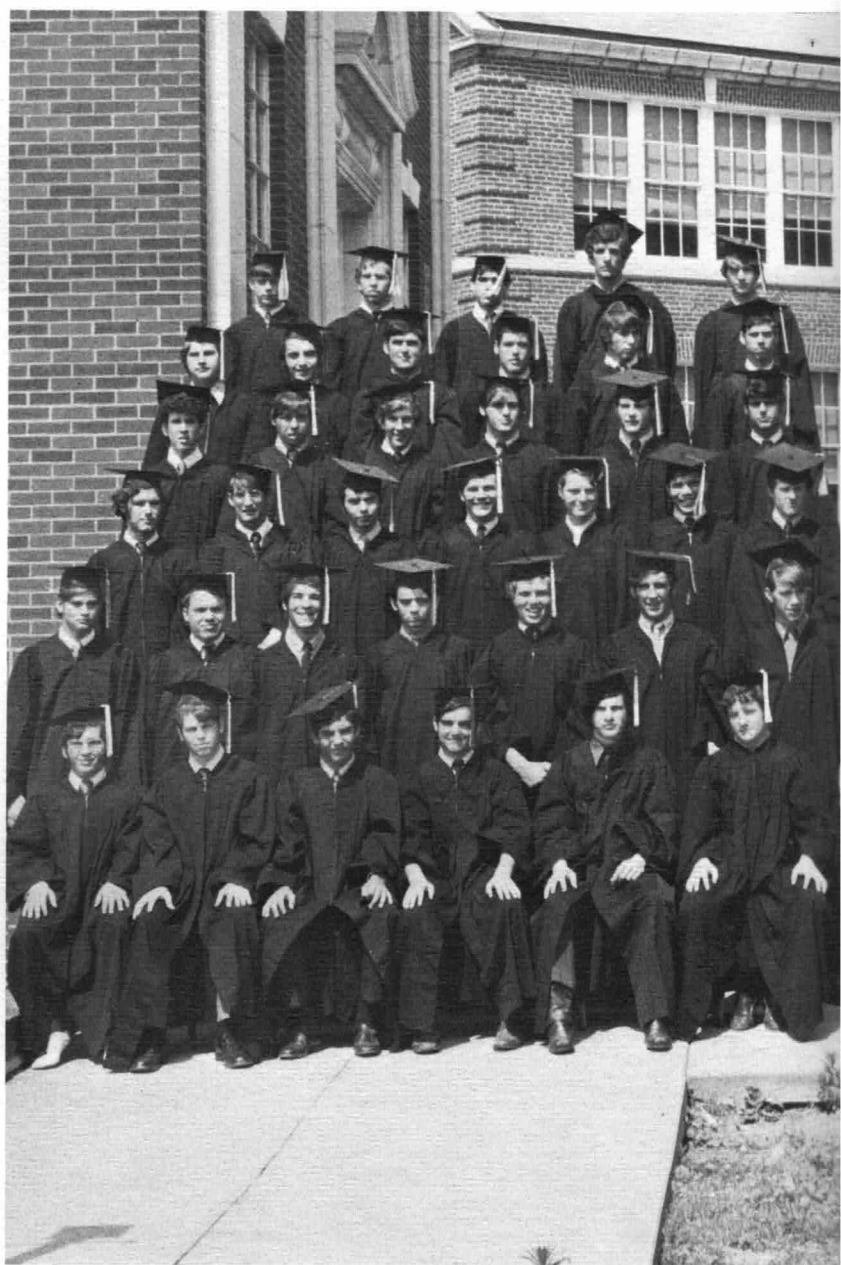

Free at last, Ed Kincade removes his graduation gown, after posing for the usual two dozen family pictures.

After marching the graduates to the side of the auditorium, Mr. Sullivan delivered a few touching, closing remarks, and then bel-lowed, "Class of '71 . . . DISMISSED!" This resulted in a few minutes of chaos.

Mike Sullivan is congratulated by his girl-friend Patty Sutton for surviving the four years.

Well, also sprach the '71 MALVERN-IAN. Credit should be given here to a few people who have been a tremendous help to me while I was putting this together this summer: Bill Bruton of Cooke Publishing, Mr. Doyle (who can look forward to starting all over in September), Paula Williams (my girlfriend, whom I kept busy tagging pictures, and providing me solace when things went awry), Judi Meyers and Paul Duffy (the magical couple who helped me in the captions department), Michael Sullivan (for all the transportation we needed), my sister Ellen (for typing and proof-reading), and Fr. Gallogly (who gave me a place to stay at Malvern one week, when I worked out there on the book).

Epilogue

With one notable exception, since 1966 there has been a cosmopolitan adherence to values by graduating classes. Each class, at the risk of being called cynical, has realistically observed and evaluated the Malvernian's environment.

The untutored satire of one class and the apparent apathy of another have been bracketed by the intelligence of some and the creativity of others. Perhaps, what was begun as oars beating against the current has culminated in the stretching of arms to the nebula of aesthetic fulfillment. And, even at that, it is still only a beginning.

What began as a neo-classic resurgence towards simplicity has ended in the Summer of 1971 with the neo-romantic inspiration of the "Now" generation.

But let us not restrict the Class of 1971 to a Brook Farm or a Xanadu, for theirs was not the enigmatic approach of the original dissidents. The approach of the Class of 1971 had a practicality, a reasonableness to it that dissuades one from judging them and tempts one to admire them.

Maybe future classes will turn to another more convoluted kinescope for their yearbooks, but they will have this as an archetype of inventiveness.

HYMN TO OUR MOTHER OF GOOD COUNSEL

O Virgin Mother, Lady of Good Counsel,
Sweetest Picture artist ever drew:
In all doubts, I fly to thee for guidance,
Mother, tell me, what am I to do!

By the face to Jesus' face inclining,
Sheltered safely in thy mantle blue;
By His little arms around thee twining,
Mother, tell me what am I to do!

Chorus: O Virgin Mother, Lady of Good Counsel,
Sweetest Picture artist ever drew:
In all doubts, I fly to thee for guidance,
Mother, tell me, what am I to do!

STAR SPANGLED BANNER

O say! can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, thro' the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming!
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thro' the night that our flag was still there.
O say, does that Star Spangled Banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?
