

Dear Praying Partner,

Merry Christmas faithful prayer warriors! I absolutely love this time of the year. I love seeing people that don't even know they are celebrating my Savior, celebrating my Savior! People just tend to be nicer in general around the Christmas Holiday season. I love all the smells of Christmas and the crisp cool air. I love the extra time with family and friends. It moves me how much more people are receptive to hear the Gospel during this time of the year. Jamie and I recently had the opportunity to speak with a woman that lost her daughter in August. Now she is raising her granddaughter. We had a great conversation with her about our Lord Jesus and I even had liberty to pray for her and the situation in the Starbucks (I'm sure we were getting looks). Pray that Lisa knows the Lord as her savior before its eternally too late. It reminded me that during this time of the year there are those that are around us that are hurting. They need the Gospel, but they need to know you care before they will care about the Jesus in whom we know! I love reading through the accounts of my Savior being born to save the world from sin. I recently preached a message about my favorite Christmas verses, which can be found in John chapter 1. "In the beginning was the Word, and Word was with God and the Word was God; And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth." A simple thought really, Jesus always has been. He didn't start to be when he was born, he created everything and everything that was created was by him and for him. I love remembering his birth in the manger, because it points us to the cross! I'm so thankful for Gods willingness to save a wretch like me. I'm so unworthy of all he allows me to do and be a part of. I'm so unworthy of your prayers, but I am so very thankful for them!

The Bradley's Happenings

Since our last letter we have visited several churches and had a couple more partner with us. We are privileged to be home for Christmas. We were so blessed to be able to be a part of our Churches involvement in the McDonough City Parade this year. We had out 2160 Hand wrapped complete Bibles, and some 3000 tracks to onlookers. Lila, Mollie, and James are looking forward to being in the Christmas Play at our sending church. Pray that many will hear the Gospel and be saved. As we get ready for Christmas, I am also preparing for my ordination which will be done right after the new year. Would you pray for this special time in our lives. Pray for the right people to be put in our paths. Please pray for the Dices in Jamaica NY. They are seeking the Lord's help in a major financial situation. I'm so thankful that we serve the one whom all the money belongs to. We covet your prayers and are thankful for every time you carry our name and request to the Lord. Merry Christmas!!
