Phillip Lee is a Partner at Reichman Jorgensen’s Silicon Valley Office. Phil takes pride in having the skillset to digest and communicate complex issues clearly to all stakeholders for any given case concerning any set of facts and pertaining to any range of technologies (from biotech to the electronic and software arts). He does not believe in applying a “leave no stone unturned”-type strategy in his practice. Rather, Phil has developed the finesse to be able to focus on what is important and to identify what does not deserve any attention. His practice in intellectual property litigation has been based on these skills and principles.

Phil has been involved in all phases of litigation, including pre-suit analysis; written discovery; expert discovery; taking and defending fact and expert depositions; drafting and arguing claim construction briefs; drafting and arguing evidentiary and dispositive motions; and preparing pre- and post-trial briefing.

Phil is also actively involved in pro bono work, focusing on representing veterans at the U.S. Court of Appeals for Veterans Claims and at the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.

Previously, Phil served as a judicial law clerk to the Honorable Evan J. Wallach at the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit in Washington, D.C. and the Honorable Otis D. Wright, II at the U.S. District Court for the Central District of California in Los Angeles, California.

Before joining the legal profession, Phil had the honor of serving with the U.S. Marine Corps during Operation Iraqi Freedom from 2004 to 2005.

Phil is proficient in Korean.
