

Valentine's Day 2026

Granite

Do they serve martinis in Heaven?
Well of course they do
Comes with three olives
You don't have to ask them to

What's it like up there?
Here it's the great unknown
I bet you convinced the Almighty
To let you redecorate His throne

Remember when we started dating
When you thought I was hip
We thought San Francisco to Lodi
Was a long-distance relationship

Well, I've traded late night phone calls
For lots and lots of prayers
I still rely on you
To take away my cares

You missed my 60th birthday
Mia planned a big surprise
She is a party planner
I see you in her eyes

At his new company
Cole is a big hit
Because just like you
He doesn't ever quit

Our kids are making a good living
My bank account looks sunny
I wish you were here
And you could spend all the money

I still need you
That never seems to fade
Loving one woman
It is how I was made

Today, I will get my folding chair
And a beautiful bouquet of flowers
I'll just stare at the granite
And talk to you for hours

Beloved Lana,
Again, As Always & Forever
Happy Valentine's Day
I Love You, Always!
Michael
